Rebellion

In 2019, the climate crisis was in the news like never before. This was largely due to the efforts of Extinction Rebellion.

This movement drew on numerous traditions of protest and disruption to deliver their message direct to the heart of London.

The pictures in this portfolio were taken during the Extinction Rebellion actions of October 2019. They show the vibrant colours, slogans and most importantly the faces of many of the rebels involved in this action.

The threat of arrest is the police's standard tool when dealing with protests. Extinction Rebellion have subverted that threat by having people offer themselves for arrest.

This woman lay in the street and invited arrest. She even pinned "choose me" to her clothes.

By doing so she robs the police of their deterrent and allows her actions to speak powerfully.
